- determining the cost of purchasing energy from another energy supplier;
- establishing a set of end-user energy policies for generating and using energy at the end-user facility; and
- generating a set of energy supply alternatives based on the energy user requirements and the cost of the energy alternatives;
- selecting an energy alternative that provides optimal energy usage, said selection being based on said established end-user energy policies;
- generating energy at the end-user facility, and using said generated energy as desired by the end-user; and
- selling any excess generated energy to other end-users or to energy suppliers by placing information about available energy in a location accessible to potential energy purchasers; negotiating the price and quantity of the energy with a potential energy purchaser; and consummating the transaction with the potential energy purchaser.

~~Claim 9 (Canceled) The method as described in claim 8 further comprising after said generating step, the step of selecting an energy alternative that provides optimal energy usage, said selection being based on said established end-user energy policies.~~

10. The method as described in claim 9 wherein said end-user energy policy is based on the lowest energy cost and the closest available time to a preferred time of the user.

11. The method as described in claim 9 further comprising after said selection step, steps for implementing a pre-programmed operation of the particular appliance or application using energy from the selected energy option.
